Dear residents,

In the recent weeks and months, we are living in a reality where war has become a part of our daily life.

To make it easier to find the necessary information during routine and emergencies, we have compiled the basic information in one internet booklet available for download.

The municipality's preparation for emergency situations was done during routine time as part of the work plan of the security department and the municipal administration. It was refined and improved during emergencies, like the Corona crisis and the war.

Basic preparedness according to the guidelines of the Home Front Command, even during normal times, will allow you to remain calm during these days. Therefore, it is recommended to ensure that the recommendations are followed, and attention is given to updates from the Home Front Command.

We will continue to cooperate with the Home Front Command and all emergency bodies to improve and get better during both routine and emergencies.

In this booklet, you will find a comprehensive set of guidelines that will help you prepare for the various emergency situations that may occur and handle each scenario correctly. Additionally, you will find details of some of the tools provided by the Hod Hasharon Municipality and emergency bodies during routine and emergencies.

If there are any changes in the Home Front Command's guidelines, we will update through all municipal channels.

Wishing for quiet days and for the quick return of the hostages from Hamas captivity.

Amir Kochavi,

Mayor

050-5127756

All details are available on the municipal emergency website

Instructions Upon Receiving Alert

In a building

Enter a secure room, shelter, or a protected internal room.

While driving

Stop on the side of the road, exit the vehicle, turn off the engine, enter a nearby building, or if not possible, distance from the vehicle, lie on the ground and cover your head with your hands.

Outside

In built-up areas: Enter a nearby building and follow indoor guidelines.

In open areas: Lie on the ground and cover your head with your hands.

On public transport

Exit and enter a nearby building. In intercity buses and trains, bend down below the window line and protect your head with your hands.

Stay in protected areas for 10 minutes

Time to enter a shelter: From the moment the siren sounds in Hod HaSharon, you have one and a half minutes to reach the protected area. Please be careful and prepared accordingly. Stay in protected areas for 10 minutes after the siren.

- Close windows
- Lock doors

Home Front Command

App on TV

From now on, you can receive real-time alerts while watching any content on Android TV devices.

The app can be found in the smart TV app stores, on streamers operating on Android TV, and on content providers' set-top boxes (e.g., Cellcom, Partner, Yes, and HOT).

Reception and Generation Facilities

In an emergency, and according to the municipality's announcement, eight reception facilities will be opened in schools throughout the city for the use of residents.

Additionally, the Hod Hasharon Municipality will open a Generation Center in the building of the The "Rishonim" Middle School on Paduim Street 16, where residents connected to life-saving electrical devices—such as oxygen machines, dialysis, etc.—can stay.

The center will operate a large generator that will ensure the continuity of electricity flow to the school building even during a power outage, and it will be ready to receive up to 350 residents who need electricity to ensure their safety.

For reception and Generator Facilities, you can contact the Hod HaSharon Municipality hotline - 108 or municipal workers who will be in the area to assist residents.

Emergency Preparedness for Sensitive Populations and/or People with Disabilities

Prepare in advance:

A medical document indicating your medical and mental condition, known allergies, constant medications, and communication difficulties.

- If you depend on a caregiver, wear a necklace or bracelet identifying your condition.
- First aid kit and medications – if you take medications regularly, ensure you have a 14-day supply.
- It is recommended to ask your family doctor for a medical report, so people know what to do if you need help, or what to avoid, in case of need, as well as a copy of the prescription.

For the visually impaired:

- Prepare a document with phone numbers and addresses in Braille or large print of family members, regular helpers, and organizations that assist you.
- Specific and spare equipment if necessary, such as: a walking stick, magnifying glass, etc. For those assisted by a guide dog:
- Food, utensils, and water, including a feeding bowl for 72 hours.
- Leash and muzzle.
- Copies of the dog's license, vaccination certificates, and contact details of the veterinarian.

Emergency Preparedness for the Hearing Impaired:

- Spare batteries for the hearing aid, charger, and headphones.
- Personal amplifier and speakerphone that connects to a mobile phone.
- A card identifying you as deaf and/or a sign language speaker.
- Paper and writing tools if you use sign language.

You can join the municipal WhatsApp group for the hearing impaired for real-time updates about city alerts and the need to enter a protected area.

Tools for Emotional Coping in Emergencies

In these times, we are overwhelmed with information—news updates, instructions from the Home Front Command and other bodies, calming advice, advice for calming children, mental first aid, coping strategies, and more. Excessive information and increased news exposure can either heighten anxiety or offer reassurance. Each of us reacts differently.

Ensure that you consume content thoughtfully and from reliable sources online. Check who the source of the information is and avoid rumors and unverified information. Consider whether the information is helpful or distressing. Relay the information to children according to their age and emotional state. Sometimes it's better not to expose them to the news at all. Manage your screen time and remind children to do the same.

What helps me online? How much information is too much for me?

Animals in Emergency

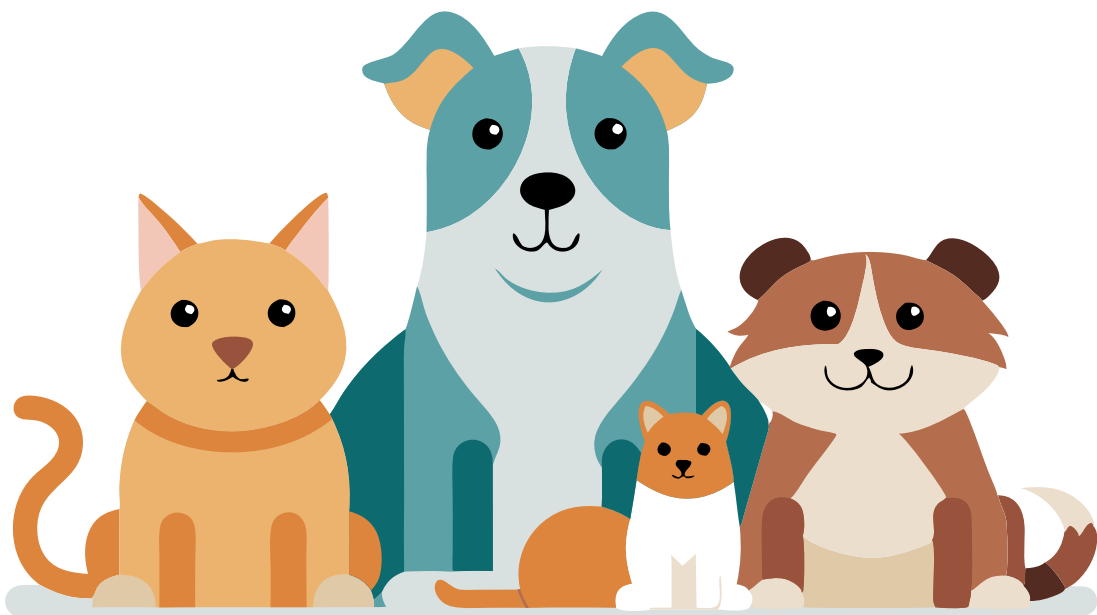

Please ensure that your dog has a valid microchip, and that the details registered in the national dog registry are up-to-date. Additionally, it is recommended to attach a tag with the pet's name and the owner's phone number.

In case you have to leave your pet at home alone (due to leaving the house for a short period), make sure to leave them in the protected area.

For more information and consultation with veterinarians and the municipal veterinary team, you can contact the municipal hotline at 108.

Public Defibrillators(AED) Location

The smart defibrillation stations, installed in open public spaces, are added to dozens of defibrillators placed throughout the city for the benefit of the public, in schools, sports centers, and various municipal buildings, in accordance with the municipality's policy to promote the installation of defibrillators in the urban area.

A defibrillator is a resuscitation device that restores the heart's rhythm to regular function by delivering an electric shock. It is a safe and easy-to-use device that does not require medical training, as during resuscitation, the device guides the pace and provides both audible and visual instructions. The smart devices are equipped with communication to the 101 emergency call center of Magen David Adom. These are GPS-enabled resuscitation stations that can be controlled and monitored remotely.
